

CONFIDENTIAL

murmurs

Proud: Keitzman and Jardim

It's WAGS who brag

IT DIDN'T take long for South Africa's cricketing WAGS to emerge from the shadows after their partners drove a stump through our Test team's heart.

The two who jumped at the chance to be photographed celebrating were Jeanne Keitzman, a gorgeous 21-year-old brunette and Cape Town model who is hooked up with matchwinner Dale Steyn.

The other was the elegantly blonde Shamone Jardim, who is South African veteran Jacques Kallis's girlfriend and one he definitely loves.

"It is so nice to date a girl who is dating me for who I am and not someone looking to further their career out of a relationship," Kallis recently said of his girl.

Almost a good move

IT was a good idea on paper... every paparazzi in town was waiting for Paris Hilton, she slightly resembles the heiress and apparently wanted some publicity for her yet-to-launch PR firm.

But when Paris doppelganger Samantha Hills emerged from the Sheraton on the Park on Tuesday and momentarily fooled the waiting masses, she made herself look more fake than an episode of Hilton's show The Simple Life.

Without anyone knowing who she was or what she was doing, the stunt fell flat.

Confidential understands that Hills, who has a day job as a nurse, is trying to kick-start a career in publicity and was trying to generate some press.

Maybe next time.

Elle of a way to end year

LOOKING every inch the good sort at 45, Elle Macpherson and her family headed out on to the water yesterday and spent the last day of 2008 at sea — appropriate given the way the year turned out for some members of the family.

Most comfortable on the waves was former whale-watcher Mimi, who was looking a little pink in the cheek at day's end.

Also in the party was family patriarch Peter Gow, brother Ben and his wife Belynda and their toddler son Xander.

The family chartered a boat that cruised the waters of Yowie Bay before transporting the group to Bundeena on Port Hacking.

The recently bankrupted Mimi proved that despite her financial woes, she could still rustle together the means to buy a gift, turning up with a large white box with a red bow — thought to be a gift for her sister.

Broke: Mimi and dad Peter Gow

While Mimi's financial setbacks have been well documented in the press of late, giving her good cause to turn over a new leaf financially in 2009, Elle also has good reason to put 2008 behind her.

Her ex, "Arkie" Busson, the cad, held out for years in refusing to marry the ex-supermodel and mother of his two sons and then turned around this year and popped the question to film star Uma Thurman.

Elle won't want for offers in the new year. Perhaps restaurateur Dave Evans could drop her a line.

Looking good: Elle Macpherson yesterday

Picture: Photo News