

Ed's letter

Alison Veness-McGourty EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

"So we are in fashion and celebrity nirvana – the shows are in full swing. We've had New York, now we're on to London, oh yes we are!"

We like a bit of front-row action at Grazia. By the time you read this, I'll be in Milan for the next fashion fix. I love going to the shows, it's a big injection of ideas deep into the brain. I've packed light as it's only six days on the ground (two in the air)! A little black dress for every day – I know it sounds so boring, so prescriptive, but I will have no time to think. I have to hit those cobblestones running. I'm taking a wickedly expensive Balenciaga shift, a divine dress from Little Joe by Gail Elliott (just in at Myer) and a Vanessa Bruno light-as-a-whipped-meringue LBD. And fabulous Dolce & Gabbanas from Cosmopolitan Shoes – I always go there before I go away (which, yes, is a bit like cleaning before a cleaner arrives) because as we all know, you need to look chic before you start shopping, oops, working... And I'm taking an arm-ory of killer It bags – some say It bags are over but I say rubbish. It ain't over til the fat lady hits size zero. It's still hot. For more fabulousity, go to grazia.com.au for my blog this week and weep... My husband will be able to add more chapters to his epic novel, Life On Hysteria Lane."
