ELLE HEARTS LITTLE JOE

Paris Hilton wasn't the only star boosting the Australian economy by shopping up a storm over the summer holidays! Elle Macpherson also spent big, popping into good friend and former model Gail Elliott's Little Joe store in Sydney's Woollahra and picking up a number of pieces, including five dresses, three blouses, a cardigan, singlet and jeans. The Aussie supermodel appeared quite pleased with her buys – she even changed into one of the dresses to leave the store! Shop online at www.littlejoeny.com.

BOOT LEGS

While celebs wouldn't normally be seen dead turning up to an event wearing the same thing, Paris and Nicky Hilton and their new bestie, reality show star Brittany Flickinger, arrived at the Summerfieldayze festival on the Gold Coast earlier this month all deliberately decked out in the same shoes – a pair of pink paisley gumboots! Love the look? Puddle Beach is selling a similar pair at www.puddlebeach.com.au.

THE WHO, WHAT AND 'WEAR' OF STAR STYLE...

5 MINS WITH... STACEY LAPIDUS

With headbands all the rage in Tinseltown right now, we caught up with accessories designer Stacey Lapidus who's just created a line of headbands with Mischa Barton.

How did you team up with Mischa?

I'd seen her photographed in so many different headbands of mine, and I wanted to [work with] someone who to me was beautiful, creative and talented. I started by sending some pieces I thought Mischa would like. From there we discussed the direction and feel we wanted. Once we had some basic pieces and ideas we built on them.

What was Mischa's involvement in the design process?

Mischa was involved from the beginning through to the end, from choosing the fabrics and shapes to the fit and changes along the way.

Are you set to collaborate on another range together?

Absolutely! Holiday [which Aussies can buy at www.staceylapidus.com] was just a tiny capsule collection! We've already finished spring and we'll begin work on a summer collection in late February/early March.
